

Cornell University Veterinary Specialists

Transforming Care. One Life at a Time.

Do You Have the Compassion, Dedication and Skills to Help Us Care for Our Patients?

Seeking Veterinary Assistants to Join Our Team

Cornell University Veterinary Specialists (CUVS) is a mission-driven specialty and emergency center, providing exceptional and innovative medicine within a patient-centered and service-oriented model. CUVS is seeking veterinary assistants for the following positions:

- Wards and Animal Care Assistant
- Ultrasound Support Assistant
- Hospital Cleaning and Hygiene Assistant

There are few jobs more rewarding than that of veterinary assistant, assisting veterinarians and credentialed technicians in almost every aspect of patient care and playing a vital role in the hospital. Assistant responsibilities include attending to patient's daily needs (such as feeding, providing water, walks and comfort); maintaining equipment; sterilizing surgical instruments; setting up and helping in medical procedures; and cleaning and disinfecting all areas of the hospital to ensure the safest environment for our patients, our clients and our team.

Our veterinary technicians come to us from a variety of career paths. Many have worked for years in specialty practice, or started their careers in general practice and are seeking to learn more in a specialty environment. Some have completed a formal veterinary assistant training program, while others are prevet students looking for meaningful veterinary work. Regardless, we are dedicated to helping our team members develop to their fullest potential. Our large multi-service hospital affords numerous opportunities for the continued growth and advancement of our assistants. We provide robust training, and offer our staff a multi-level career ladder. Many of our assistants are tracking toward licensure.

Why choose a hospital that offers you a job, when you can choose a hospital that offers you a career?
